Remember the first summer Nick came to California. The first day here, he and Jared were climbing the tree in Jared's yard. They were having a grand time and they scared Opa so bad they had to come down. They couldn't see what the problem was. By the end of the summer, Opa had gotten used to their exuberance and they spent lots of time playing on the mattress up in that tree. Took Justin and Nick to Germany. Rented a house that came with bicycles. They had so much fun exploring that town! Good times!

Fond memories of when we played board games when they were younger at the holidays getting together or just visiting for over night. 🌸. Nick always laughing with his brothers and carrying on with his dad and family! ❤️
