“ One of only a few good men on this earth. I had the pleasure of growing up pretty close around uncle Foy. He was the kindest of the gentle giants. He always managed to put others ahead of himself. I was in complete awe of him all my life. He was ma's baby brother, but he was always my hero.

“ I remember the many visits Uncle Foy made to our home when I was a kid. Many of these he brought Kim, his daughter, with him. We would play all day. Come in and play cards with my Daddy and Uncle Foy. Then back out playing until Mom called us in for dinner.

If my girlfriends knew he was over, they would be all googoo eyed and I practically had to blot the drowl off their chin. My Uncle could say "Doll", like no other to this day!

His kind heart and many great deeds will be remembered forever!
